kueh lapis

Originating from Indonesia, kueh lapis has become an iconic part of Singapore's dessert repertoire. This multi-layered masterpiece is meticulously crafted, with each layer painstakingly colored and steamed to create a visually stunning and texturally delightful treat. The result is a symphony of vibrant hues and a soft, melt-in-your-mouth texture that captivates the senses.

ondeh-ondeh

Ondeh-ondeh is a beloved dessert that embodies the essence of Singaporean creativity. These bite-sized green orbs are made from glutinous rice flour and generously filled with a sweet and savory gula melaka filling. The tantalizing contrast between the chewy exterior and the bursting sweetness within makes ondeh-ondeh an unforgettable treat.

Chendol is a refreshing and vibrant dessert that is perfect for a hot Singaporean day. This chilled treat combines shaved ice, creamy coconut milk, and vibrant green pandan jelly to create a symphony of textures and flavors. The addition of sweet red bean and gula melaka adds an extra layer of complexity, making chendol a truly indulgent experience.

kueh salat

Kueh salat is a delicate and intricate pastry that is a testament to the skilled artistry of Singaporean bakers. This flaky pastry crust is filled with a sweet and tangy pineapple filling, creating a harmonious blend of flavors and textures. The intricate latticework crust adds a touch of elegance to this delightful treat.

putu piring

Putu piring is a unique and charming dessert that is a popular street food in Singapore. This cylindrical-shaped treat is made from steamed rice flour and filled with a sweet and savory grated coconut filling. The contrasting textures and flavors make putu piring an irresistible treat that is sure to delight.

ang ku kueh

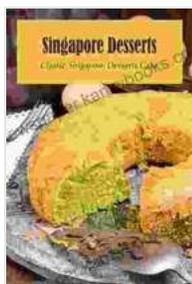

Ang ku kueh is a vibrant and auspicious dessert that is often enjoyed during festive occasions. These delicate pastries are made from glutinous rice flour and filled with a sweet and savory mung bean paste. The intricate designs and colorful exteriors of ang ku kueh make them a feast for the eyes as well as the taste buds.
