Al-Aqsa Mosque

The Al-Aqsa Mosque, located on the Temple Mount in Jerusalem, is the second holiest site in Islam. It is believed to be the place where the Prophet Muhammad ascended to heaven during his Night Journey. The mosque is considered a sanctuary and a place of worship for Muslims worldwide.

Dome of the Rock

The Dome of the Rock, also located on the Temple Mount, is another sacred site for Muslims. It is believed to be the place where the Prophet Muhammad ascended to heaven and is said to house a piece of the Black Stone from the Kaaba in Mecca.

Haram al-Sharif

The Haram al-Sharif, or Temple Mount, is the entire area surrounding the Al-Aqsa Mosque and the Dome of the Rock. It is considered a sacred sanctuary for Muslims and is of great religious significance.

Historical Significance

Jerusalem holds immense historical significance for Muslims. It was the capital of the Islamic Umayyad Caliphate in the 7th century and remained under Muslim rule for over 1,000 years. During this period, the city flourished as a center of Islamic culture, learning, and administration.

Islamic Architecture

Jerusalem is home to many Islamic architectural masterpieces, including the Al-Aqsa Mosque, the Dome of the Rock, and the walls of the Old City. These structures are a testament to the artistic and architectural achievements of the Muslim world.

Cultural Heritage

The Muslim community in Jerusalem has preserved its unique cultural heritage for centuries. This heritage includes language, cuisine, music, and art. It is an important part of the city's diverse cultural fabric.

Political Significance

Jerusalem's religious and historical significance has made it a focal point of political conflict. For Muslims, the city's status is of paramount importance.

Occupation and Annexation

After the Six-Day War in 1967, Israel occupied East Jerusalem, including the Old City and the Temple Mount. In 1980, Israel annexed East Jerusalem, a move that was not recognized by the international community.

Palestinian Statehood

The Palestinians claim East Jerusalem as the capital of their future state. The status of Jerusalem is a key issue in the ongoing Israeli-Palestinian conflict. Muslims worldwide support the Palestinian cause and view Israeli occupation and annexation as a violation of international law.

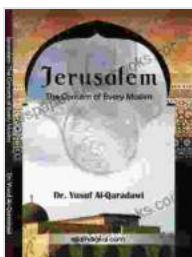

Waqf

The Waqf is an Islamic endowment that oversees the administration of the Al-Aqsa Mosque and other Muslim properties in Jerusalem. Muslims around the world have a deep concern about the preservation and protection of the Waqf and the rights of Muslims in Jerusalem.

Jerusalem is a city of immense significance to Muslims. It is a religious sanctuary, a historical treasure, and a symbol of their faith. The occupation and annexation of East Jerusalem by Israel has raised serious concerns among Muslims worldwide. They fear for the safety of their holy sites, the preservation of their cultural heritage, and the denial of Palestinian rights.

The issue of Jerusalem is not merely a political dispute but a fundamental concern for every Muslim. It is a matter of faith, history, and collective identity. The resolution of the conflict in Jerusalem is essential for peace and stability in the region and for the rights and aspirations of all Muslims around the world.
